

The Accountable Manager™

60% of all managers underperform during their first two years, leading to performance gaps and employee turnover across the entire frontline. However, it's clear today that frontline managers matter more than ever. Their day-to-day performance impacts customer relationships and engagement of employees. To drive the performance of frontline managers, organizations need to support new candidates as they transition into their role, while also ensuring existing managers continue to develop the skills that will drive success.

The Accountable Manager™ is our skill-based leadership program that equips Frontline Managers with the mindset, skillset, and deliberate practices needed to not only lead, but lead with greater accountability.

The program is organized around three building blocks to drive accountability at the personal, team and organizational level.

Program Components

The Accountable Manager™

The Learning Journey

- Participants and their managers are invited to participate in a one-hour virtual orientation that outlines the learning journey.
- Participants start by completing a DISC Everyday Workplace™ assessment. The self-awareness gained through this assessment - understanding their strengths and limitation, the impact of how they show up at work, and how they can adapt to be more successful in certain situations – is a key element that is woven throughout the entire program.
- Participants will receive a complete resource workbook and their manager will receive a resource booklet with proven ways to support their direct reports.

A Cohort Approach

Participants progress through the components of The Accountable Manager™ program as part of a cohort. This fosters relationships, allowing participants to support and learn from one another during the program.

Concise Learning Modules

We know the time pressures that managers face each day. As a result, we've designed The Accountable Manager™ to be delivered through nine 2.5 hour facilitator-led-in-person or virtual sessions. Each module is focused on a core management skill.

Sustaining the Learning

The Accountable Manager™ includes three virtual Leadership Accountability Sessions, where participants revisit key concepts, share experiences through applied learning, and work through outstanding challenges together.

1. Participants are expected to complete a field assignment after each module that requires them to apply skills acquired in the program to a real-life scenario.
2. Three (3) group coaching opportunities or Leader Accountability Sessions (known as LA sessions) involving small groups of participants. In these one-hour, instructor-led conference calls, following each of the three Building Blocks, our facilitator reviews the content of the Building Block and discusses progress with field assignments.
3. Performance support tools to ensure consistent on-the-job application of newly acquired skills.
